Some Progress Is Reported In Ohio Bell Co. Negotiations

Surprise Six-Hour Session Called By Mediators

CLEVELAND (AP) — Some progress was reported today in a surprise negotiating session between Ohio Bell Telephone Co. and the striking Communications Workers of America called early this morning by federal mediators.

The meeting started at 2:40 a.m. (EDT) and lasted until after 8 a.m. The joint discussions were recessed subject to a call from the mediators.

The union said that "reported significant developments in Western Electric negotiations in New York" prompted federal mediator T. W. Robertson to call the special meeting.

Another Meeting Set

In New York, Western Electric Co. negotiators met until 2:30 this morning and another meeting was called for 10 a.m. today.

Federal Mediator Walter A. Maggioli said "some encouraging progress has been made" in efforts to settle the contract dispute.

The strike by 18,500 CWA members at Ohio Bell installations in 45 cities started Monday morning, at the same time as a walkout by 23,800 Western Electric installers in 44 states and the District of Columbia.

Martin J. Hughes, CWA Ohio director, said after a brief negotiation session Wednesday that the talks with Ohio Bell were hopelessly deadlocked, "unless a break comes in the Western Electric negotiations."

Both Western Electric and Ohio Bell are bargaining on new contracts. Both are affiliates of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Both wages and fringe benefits covering hospitalization and working conditions are at issue in the Ohio Bell strike.

The company's most recent offer, reported about 10 days ago, was for a 15-month contract with weekly raises of $2.50 to $5 or a one-year contract with wage hikes of $2 to $4.50 a week.

Ohio Bell said that offer would add five million dollars to the annual payroll.

The union rejected the offer, but did not disclose its wage demands for what it insisted must be a one-year contract.

The company offer would have raised operators' pay to a range of from $61 to $70.50 a week, and top-rated plant craftsmen to from $105 to $115.50 weekly, depending on the city of employment.

Hughes and other union officials disclaimed any responsibility for scattered acts of vandalism which have occurred since the strike started.

Boy, 16, Injured In Traffic Collision

A 16-year-old Salem boy was injured Wednesday afternoon in one of two auto mishaps occurring on city streets.

The boy, Samuel W. Lippitt, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lippitt of 1742 N. Ellsworth Ave., received a fractured nose and bruises of the left arm when he was involved in an accident with a truck driven by Joseph Cooper, 48, of Winona on N. Ellsworth at 4:15 p.m.

Police said Lippitt couldn't stop his car in time and ran into a beam that Cooper was carrying on his truck.

The boy was treated at the Central Clinic.

A car driven by Dale Anderson, 38, of 693 W. State St. and a parked vehicle owned by Phil D. Springer, 52 of Lisbon were struck by a hit-and-run car Wednesday at 4:07 p.m. on S. Broadway near Aetna St.

Police said the unknown driver failed to stop after striking the two cars.

Army, Navy Maintain Order in Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Machine gunners and bayonets maintained orders today in this strikebound capital amid rumors of revolt.

Amateur radio listeners in Santiago, Chile, heard reports a revolution had erupted against the provisional regime of President Pedro Agramonte.

There was no confirmation here. But the communications strike had cut communications with the provinces and from abroad except for a trickle of messages.

(This dispatch was telephoned to New York in one of those brief periods when telephone calls were going out of Buenos Aires.)

A government spokesman denied rumors published abroad that the army had demanded Aramburu and his Cabinet resign.

The government took armed action against the communications workers after rounding up 100 union leaders and charging them with inciting other workers to strike. Among those held were 20 women.

The company gets 90 per cent of its gas from pipeline companies and the rest from local suppliers. Opponents brought out that the company would increase the retail price of both pipeline and local gas when pipeline prices to it went up.

C. F. Waterman, assistant vice president of Manufacturers, and attorney Ed Calland explained the gas rate adjustment clause. They claimed it would not amount to a rate increase for the company's 40,000 customers in Columbian, Jefferson and Belmont counties.

But City Solicitor John J. Malik of Bellaire and Atty. Thomas C. Committee of Wheeling, W. Va., representing industrial gas users in the area, disagreed.

Malik asked the application be dismissed. The commission took his request under advisement and will rule after a further hearing Oct. 2. Both Malik and Committee said the application is misleading.

City Solicitors Albert C. Joseph of Martine Ferry, Kenneth Cooper of East Liverpool and James L. Sweeney of Wellsville attended the hearing.

Dulles Asks UN To Act In Mideast Situation

Claims Russian Arms In Syria Threaten Turkey

Secretary Charges Action By Soviets Violates Resolution

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles called on the U.N. today to intervene in the Middle East situation. He said Soviet arms in Syria pose "a growing military danger" to Turkey.

The Secretary of State in a major policy speech told the 82-nation General Assembly "the United Nations may not be able by any material power it can muster to tranquilize the scene."

But he declared it must exert its full influence to end Soviet efforts to dominate the Middle East.

Dulles said the Communists appear to be engaging in acts aimed at impairing the freedom and independence of certain Middle East nations.

Incited by Propaganda

"Those who feel an abnormal sense of power as a result of the recent putting into their hands of large amounts of Soviet bloc arms, are being incited by violent propaganda. That is risky business."

The secretary of state charged Russian acts in the Middle East were in violation of an Assembly resolution adopted in 1945 calling upon every nation to refrain from any threats or acts aimed at impairing the integrity of any state.

He said the situation called not only for individual and collective vigilance on the part of all free nations but, "when there is such a situation as now exists in the Middle East, this General Assembly ought at least to consider it and discuss it."

He said the United States would reserve the right in the light of these discussions to introduce concrete proposals.

Referring specifically to the situation in Syria he declared:

Sites Progress in Syria

"This Soviet Communist effort has made the most progress in Syria, where Soviet bloc arms were exultantly received and where political power has increasingly been taken over by those who depend upon Moscow. True patriots have been driven from positions of power by arrests or intimidation.

"One consequence of this is that Turkey now faces growing military danger from the major buildup of Soviet arms in Syria on its southern border, a buildup concerted with Soviet military power on Turkey's northern border.

"Last week the Soviet union sought to intimidate Turkey from making internal dispositions of its security forces to protect against a possible Soviet pincer movement."

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko will have his say before the Assembly Friday.

The Assembly debate is expected to clarify Syria's new position in the Soviet sphere of influence, a situation that has caused considerable U.S. concern.

The government and unions went into negotiations to try to settle the general strike.

The government, however, took the position the slowdowns and slowdowns were illegal. It withdrew recognition of employees' representatives named to negotiate a settlement.

Telephone workers are asking a monthly raise of 70 pesos ($1.00). Telegraph workers want a 1,000-peso ($27 raise). The government in a battle to halt inflation, imposes wage boosts.

Grand Jury Begins Clean-up of Cases

LISBON — The September grand jury returned today to hear criminal testimony in eight cases. They expect to examine 19 witnesses.

Friday's schedule calls for 11 witnesses to testify in two cases.

In the first four days the jury was in session it brought in 26 true bills, ignored four cases. In all, 51 witnesses in 35 cases testified.

Prosecutor G. William Brokaw said he expects the jury to complete its work Friday afternoon.

Arraignment day for those already indicted by the grand jury has been set for Monday.

Johns Hopkins Scientist Reports Discovery of Common Cold Vaccine

Tons of Deadly Cyanide Pose Threat to Town

BALTIMORE (AP) — A 34-year-old Johns Hopkins scientist says he has developed an effective vaccine for the common cold.

Dr. Winston H. Price of the Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health said that:

1. He has succeeded in isolating the first "true" virus of the common cold—one responsible for 30 per cent of the cases he has studied over a two-year period.

2. He has developed a vaccine which, in controlled tests on more than 400 persons, prevented colds caused by the "JH virus" in 80 per cent of the cases.

The possibility of mass-producing the vaccine is very good, Dr. Price indicated, although he begged off answering any questions about commercial production.

"I know nothing about that at all," he said. "I'm a medical researcher. I will make nothing out of this whatsoever."

But he said the JH virus has been sent to other laboratories and they have been able to cultivate it using the methods developed here.

Immunity is produced from two shots, the second following the first by four weeks, Dr. Price said. He could not say how long the immunity would last.

He said the vaccine was made from killed JH virus and had produced no symptoms, discomfort or side effects.

Reaction of the medical world was as cautious as it was scarce. Most researchers and virus experts declined comment until they have seen Dr. Price's scientific report.

Because common colds are caused by an unknown number of viruses, Dr. Price emphasized that researcher. I will make nothing out of this whatsoever."

But he said the JH virus has been sent to other laboratories and they have been able to cultivate it using the methods developed here.

Eight large groups of volunteers from boys training schools took part in the experiments conducted by Dr. Price, director of the Division of Medical Ecology of the Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health.

The vaccine was tested in an epidemic which occurred normally.

In one group of 10 boys, 50 were injected with the vaccine, 25 were given a saline solution which produces no effects, and 25 were given a preparation from killed monkey kidney tissue — the medicinal properties of which are not known.

Draws Up Recommendations . . .

Ohio Medical Assn. Issues Policy Statement for Any Flu Outbreaks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio State Medical Assn. yesterday urged county medical societies to organize now to cope with any influenza outbreak of serious proportions in the coming fall and winter.

High on the state association's list of recommendations is a public information program to keep the people accurately and fully abreast of the situation.

The association's statement of policy was drawn up by its council, interim governing body of the organization after a conference with officials of the Ohio Department of Health.

Because of differences in local conditions, the policy statement said no stereotyped pattern can be laid down for the whole state, but these general recommendations were presented:

1. A public information program "conducted in an orderly fashion to avoid confusion and hysteria in the public."

2. Physicians should be urged to keep themselves informed and be prompt in reporting suspected influenza cases to local authorities.

3. Citizens should be encouraged to secure immunization against the prevalent strain of influenza from their personal physicians. . . . the public should be advised that vaccine supplies may be inadequate now, but larger quantities are promised in the next few months.

4. A priority system recommended by the state and approved by the council should be followed in this order:

Those whose services are necessary to maintain the health of the community.

Those necessary to maintain basic community services such as utilities and communications, etc.

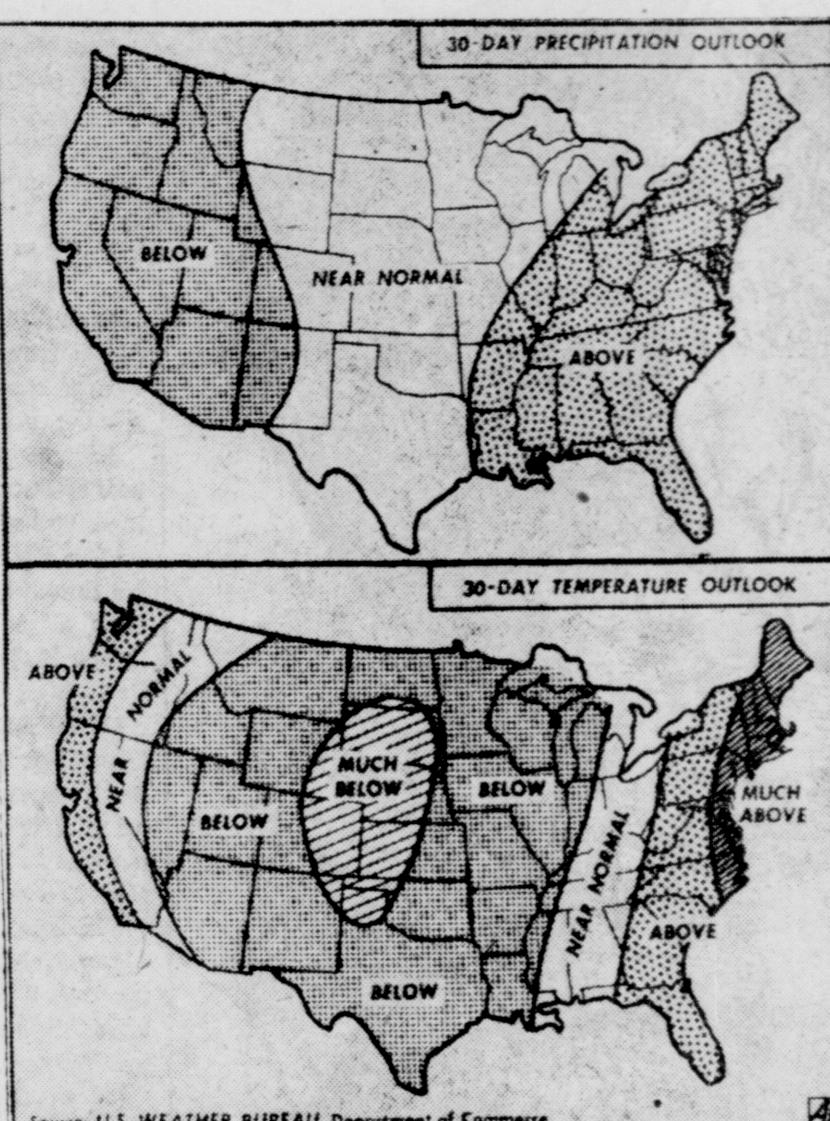

Those with tuberculosis and others who constitute a special medical risk.

The general public.

5. The dosage schedule recommended by the healths department is endorsed.

6. The best interests of the patient will be served if vaccination is done as a routine preventive medicine procedure in the office of each person's personal physician. The hazards of mass inoculation will be avoided . . . any plan which brings about mal-distribution will seriously conflict with community planning for the best use of the vaccine for the community as a whole.

7. Local planning should include methods to assure that all persons in the community who desire are effective against virus infections.

WEATHER FORECAST FOR NEXT 30 DAYS. These maps, based on those supplied by the United States Weather Bureau, forecast the probable precipitation and temperatures for the next 30 days.

to be inoculated with influenza vaccine will receive this service.

8. Distribution of the vaccine should take place through regular drug distribution channels.

9. Plans for local action in event of a serious epidemic should be drafted including:

Ways of making full use of all physicians, regardless of type of practice.

An organized procedure for the use of other professional resources.

Close co-ordination between physicians and health authorities on reporting cases and use of diagnostic facilities.

Possible revision of hospital admission procedures . . . hospitalization of uncomplicated cases should be discouraged.

Development of informative bulletins for both the public and physicians containing information on home-care of influenza victims.

Close co-ordination between physicians and health authorities on reporting cases and use of diagnostic facilities.

Davis is out on $1,000 bond pending the hearing.

Practical Nursing

An advisory committee has been appointed to assist with some of the problems which may arise when Salem City Hospital begins its new School of Practical Nursing. The willingness of this group to help in the formulative period of the school is encouraging to the hospital leaders who have been aware of the need for a school where women and girls could be trained in practical nursing.

Professional nursing study is coming more and more into the realm of a university curriculum, leaving hospitals the size of Salem's to devote their efforts to training in practical standards and methods.

The decision of the board of trustees of Salem City Hospital to convert into a School of Practical Nursing appears to be in keeping with advancements in the medical profession and years from now City Hospital may be looked upon as one which pioneered in this field.

Without a doubt the advisory committee will help to insure the stability of the program here.

Policewomen

City Council's move to put women on the police force next month may be new in Salem but it's been tried before in other cities successfully.

Policewomen often have succeeded in detective work. The metropolitan cities utilize their services to advantage.

However, in Salem's case Council plans to employ two women to take care of the routine chore of checking downtown parking meters, "tagging" cars for overtime parking, emptying the coins from the meters and making minor repairs.

This will relieve Patrolman James Irey, a capable officer, for more important duties of police work.

The plan sounds good but Patrolman Irey's many friends in the downtown district will miss his friendly smile and pleasant "hello."

Conversational Approach

Former Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey says the consumer is the all-powerful force in the inflation picture and urges him to buy cautiously or, if possible, not at all.

Federal Reserve analysts agree on the importance of the consumer but cite a nationwide increase in retail sales as a healthy sign that the economy has plenty of strength left.

An advertising man unveils a "hidden commercial" invention already proven remarkably successful in reaching the consumer's unconscious to get him to buy what he would not consciously decide he should.

Behind all this apparent madness there is surely some reasonable method, but it usually escapes the "man in the street," particularly that all-powerful consumer, and not infrequently escapes the expert as well. So it may come as small consolation to most of us to know that yet another group has been organized in Washington to discuss the economic situation.

But the new top-level panel sets a couple of precedents. It brings together, in some cases for the first time, various governmental leaders concerned with economic policy. The President, the Secretary of the Treasury, the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, the chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers and a special White House economist.

These men or the organizations they represent are often in disagreement even among themselves as to the needs of the economy.

The panel's operation will be entirely informal, offering more a chance for learned conversation than direct opportunity to set policy.

There are some, of course, who understandably hold that more talk on the subject is just what we do not need. But economics being what it is, an occasional chummy chat by a few of the nation's experts may provide more lucidity than a pile of pious pronouncements proffered promiscuously.

International Agriculture

If there remains anyone who needs evidence to know the world has shrunk, he can find it this week at Peebles, Ohio.

Regardless of the degree of urbanity and sophistication of any other segment of the population, the farmer the world over has remained the symbol of provincialism. In the popular concept, he was born, lived and died without getting any farther from his native element than the county fair or its counterpart.

Yet in Peebles are gathered outstanding farmers of 15 nations to compete with each other in the basic art of their craft, plowing. The spectacle is expected to attract no less than 250,000 people interested in the international aspect of agriculture.

And, as in all such endeavors, the diversity of tools and methods is undergirded with a bond of universality between all the participants. It is the love of the soil, of efforts to learn its secrets and make it conform to man's needs and desires, of sharing special knowledge and skills.

This is proof indeed that even for the rural man, today's vista of human relationships reaches to the ends of the globe.

Soviet Segregation

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Red Press Limits Concern to Problem in America

Soviet Russia claims to be ahead in many things — from the invention of the airplane to the making of the inter-continental missile — but certainly there can be no doubt that in maintaining a rigid system of segregation of the races in the schools of central Asia, the Soviet Union has managed to accomplish its objective with a maximum of efficiency at home and a minimum of criticism abroad.

For throughout the world hardly a ripple of dissenting comment is heard. In fact, the "Daily Worker" — the Communist party organ in New York — brazenly spends most of its editorial energies denouncing segregation of schools in southern areas of the United States without showing a like concern about the same problem in Russia.

Also, many observers in congressional circles and in the press keep harping on the theme, "What will they think of us abroad?" without taking note of the many countries in which a similar separation of racial groups in the schools occurs.

THE TRUTH is that Soviet Russia defends her segregation policies as desirable from a cultural standpoint. It says it wants to preserve the literary tradition. There are five of the so-called Soviet "Republics" in central Asia. The population of 16 million comprises many races, including Mongols. The religion is predominantly Moslem.

In 1955, Robert Kennedy, now counsel for the "labor rackets" committee of the United States Senate, made a trip to central Asia with Justice William O. Douglas of the Supreme Court of the United States.

When they got back to this country, Mr. Kennedy gave an interview on the subject to "U.S. News & World Report," and Mr. Douglas wrote articles for "Look" magazine. Mr. Kennedy said:

"The Russians maintain one set of schools for their children and one set of schools for the children of the local people. It is a segregated school system."

"What is that?" he was asked.

THE EXPLANATION the officials gave us," he answered, "is that people like their own schools. All I know is that segregation

WHEN JUSTICE DOUGLAS got to Moscow, the Supreme Court of the Soviet Union — which consists of 75 members, of whom 16 are women — gave him a luncheon, but he didn't apparently impart any brotherly advice, or file any "restraining orders" there.

In view of Soviet Russia's handling of the segregation problem, one wonders why there is so much concern being exhibited in some quarters here in America, as we hear the familiar refrain, "What will Soviet Russia think of us now?" when, however, what Douglas and Kennedy wrote is taken into account, the question has to be reworded to read: "What shall we think of Soviet Russia now?"

This Is A Child

BY JEANETTE RIDDLE

(Editor's Note: Some of T.T.'s readers have written vacation columns for him this year. Today's essayist is a school principal.)

A child is a bundle of soft cloud with assorted smells and a gurgly, drooling smile. A child is a linguist that correctly translates the "gitchy-gitchy" of aunties into promises of future birthday presents.

A child is a magician that wraps adults around his little finger and holds them there with invisible strings. A child is a businessman who promises to share his assets with other businessmen and women in his own age, then screams and turns red when they try to help him keep his promises.

A child is a feminine dream that wears frilled dresses and dainty, flowered hats that frame blonde curls. This angelic vision goes to church to draw pictures of dive bombers and dinosaurs while adult heads are bowed in prayer.

A child is a courteous deceiver who listens carefully to the painful explanation of the difference between right and wrong; accepts the challenge to do only what is right; and goes quietly to unglue all of the stair treads with an admirable display of patience and independence.

A child is a respecter of authority who exercises this by shouting at the neighbors' dog that is too far away to have his feelings hurt by definite demands to be silent.

A child is a gourmet who responds to bribery and watches enthralled as adults sample the tasty, strained foods that will all be equally repulsive on his face.

A child is a bottomless pit that can never be filled completely with milk or hot cookies or grape juice. This human disposal plant approaches drowning fearlessly while his elders try to decide whether the food on his plate is being inhaled, absorbed, or actually eaten.

A child is an explorer who tugs at his mother's heartstrings as he goes off to blaze new trails in the world of finger paint and water colors which is inhabited with a multitude of fearless little creatures like himself. A child is the reason for bringing into this world Alexander G. Bell and Henry Ford; puppy dogs and kitty cats.

A child is an intelligent little guy who works diligently to learn to read the numbers on the clock so that when he is 16, he will know whether he is one or two hours late getting home.

A child is a little girl who annoys her mother beyond endurance as she teaches her doll the fine points of good grooming by ted-ing her hair and ironing her doll clothes. These lessons will enable the child as a teen-ager to determine more easily which one of her father's shirts to wear with her blue jeans.

A child is a con-man who hides from his contemporaries all that he learns in school that will be useful to him as an adult. He convinces his own world of his independence by his teen-age suavity and a great deal of cosmopolitan shoulder-shrugging; but, like a bear cub, loudly yells, "Maw" when he catches cold or gets chased up an intangible tree.

A child is the subject of countless silent pryaers and the clear-cut photograph of family pride. This is a child. I know; I am a teacher.

The Muted Horn

Once Over

By H. L. PHILLIPS

Rockefeller at the Bat

Whether or not anything comes of it, the Rockefellers offer to help keep the Dodgers in Brooklyn put the Rockefeller family into the "assist" column once again.

The Rockefellers have given millions to promote public welfare, health and human happiness and who is sicker and unhappier at the moment than the loyal rooters of the disheartened "Bums"?

VAST SUMS from the Rockefellers have gone to education, but no man has a completely rounded education if he can't read a boxscore. A Phi Beta Kappa key should be revoked if the wearer can't hold his own in an argument over a close play at third.

Millions have gone to the preservation of peace. But there can be no peace in O'Malley-land without intervention by somebody.

(The Rockefellers are baseball fans at heart, we think. They score in the big moments, give their all in the pinches and lead the Philanthropy Major Leagues.)

IT IS NELSON A. ROCKEFELLER who is "Casey At The Bat" here. Up to this point his top interest was the United Nations and he got his dad to buy up and donate the land it occupies. He is smart enough to realize that more New Yorkers would miss the "Bums" than would miss the U.N. diplomats.

And Nelson could well be disappointed with the United Nations, whose team work has been loose, its hitting spotty and its home runs subject to veto.

Indeed the diplomats have seemed like the "hitless wonders," fumbling the ball, swinging at the bad curves and always low in the official ball," or Russian knucker.

IT MIGHT NOT BE a bad idea to merge the Dodgers with the United Nations. This would give the world organization some of the "Bums'" entertainment appeal and at the same time serve to widen the Brooklyn club's background and give it the power to stick to an agenda.

A baseball team in striped pants would be a novelty. The Security Council coming to the plate in jerseys and baseball pants would give the world greater confidence.

The "Bums" would certainly get a lift through the realization that, even behind eight or ten games, they were a spiritual affiliate of Standard Oil.

NO EMPLOYEE should be discharged for failure to pay for expenses attendant upon political, ideological, fraternal, social, or insurance activities in which the organization may engage. It is clearly wrong to discharge people who do not wish to pay for political or ideological campaigns with which they are not in sympathy."

These decisions, together with the decision of the Supreme Court in the United Automobile Workers case in March of this year, make it clear that the subterfuge of calling political activities "educational" is not sanctioned by the law or permitted by the law.

In these present negotiations the Santa Fe Railway has hit upon a device which would make a union shop agreement possible, provided that the fees, dues, and assessments collected shall cover only the costs of collective bargaining.

The company went on to say that, while it disagreed in principle with the whole idea of compulsory membership, it would go so far as to agree to a contract under certain terms.

In a letter to the committee of the unions, it said:

"NO EMPLOYEE should be discharged for failure to pay for expenses attendant upon political, ideological, fraternal, social, or insurance activities in which the organization may engage. It is clearly wrong to discharge people who do not wish to pay for political or ideological campaigns with which they are not in sympathy."

BASEBALL IS WORTH preserving. Its preservation requires respect for community loyalty, lifelong ties and the affections of faithful fans.

Nelson Rockefeller is a sportsman who understands this and, while the family needs no further applause for public service, public relations can get a tremendous boost through an effort to see that loyalties don't get knocked around.

If the Rockefeller "First-aid to the Bums" plan goes through, there will be statues of John D. the First in Flatbush and a Nelson monument in Greater New York. . . . All up for the Flatbush over the fences of Rockefeller Center!"

BERCHTESGADEN, Hitler's Alpine retreat in the World War, is now a U.S. Army recreation center where GIs can stay for $2 a day. . . . Now and then they hear across the mountain passes a ghostly voice crying "They can't do this to me."

The small town theaters around the country are asking as high as $3.30 for a nonreserved seat to the telecast of the Robinson-Basilie fight.

Charlie Chaplin is in London boasting his latest movie "A King in New York" in which he takes some low punches at America where he made his fame and fortune . . . London reviewers say it is clumsy and unfunny.

If the Rockefellers rescue the Dodgers will they be called the "Tycoons"?

The new Edsel is bringing a revival of Ford Jokes, always welcomed by Henry the First . . .

One dog was being offered for sale at an auction, and a man in the back of the crowd, liking its appearance, was finally the successful bidder. However, he had to pay a high price as there was someone in the front of the room bidding on the animal, too.

Chagrined at having paid so much, he went forward to claim the dog and was surprised to get a bill of sale made out for "one talking dog."

"You mean this dog actually can talk?" he asked. "Who do you think was bidding against you?" replied the auctioneer.

"Did he like this one?"

"Not very much."

"Why was that?"

"He said he liked the book better."

A man came into a bar with a dog and ordered two martinis cocktails. He handed one to the dog who promptly drank it down, ate the glass until the stem was left, walked to the door and left.

The bartender viewed this with amazement and announced

Milk Strike Hits Southeast Ohio

Producers Seek $5
Per Hundredweight

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Southeastern Ohio is having just a little more than one-third its normal milk supply delivered today.

Instead of 1,800 milk producers bringing their milk to market, only 600 are delivering.

More than 1,000 milk producers in the Athens Milk Sales Co. and the Huntington, W. Va., Milk Sales Assn. launched a milk strike Wednesday when their efforts to get higher milk prices failed. They are asking an average of $5 per hundredweight over the year. They presently receive between $3.88 and $4.49, depending on the type of milk sold.

Representatives of the striking milk producers met with a committee of handlers Wednesday night until midnight at Gallipolis, the president of the Athens Milk Sales Co., Waldo Poson, said.

Poson called the session "congenial" but said no agreement was reached.

He said the two groups will attempt to get together today.

Still delivering milk to the market, however, are about 600 producers in the Southeast Ohio Cooperative Dairy Sales Assn. The group says it wants no change in the basic milk price structure, but is asking instead a four-month "drought relief" increase of 40 cents per hundredweight.

Milk handlers in Athens said Wednesday that their present supply is adequate and that if the shortage becomes acute they can import milk from Wisconsin in plenty of time.

Record Livestock Feed, Forage Supplies Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today that record supplies of livestock feed grains and forage crops are in prospect for the marketing year beginning Oct. 1.

The agency foresees some increase in feeding of grain, but predicted that despite this surpluses would be enlarged.

The supply of feed grains by-products feeds and imported grains was expected to total 210 million tons, or 10 million more than the current marketing year's record.

Miss Lois Zimmerman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice G. Zimmerman of RD 2, Columbiana became the bride of Robert Lee Zarnosky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Zarnosky of RD 2, Columbiana, in an afternoon wedding Sept. 8 in the East Fairfield Methodist Church.

Rev. Mark George officiated at the service. Bouquets of white gladioli and seven-branch cancelabra entwined with ivy enhanced the altar setting.

Mrs. Chalmers Morris sang "Love You Truly," "Because," "Walk Hand in Hand" and "The Lord's Prayer." She was accompanied by Miss Eileen Grim.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a ballerina-length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle. It was fashioned with a scalloped neckline trimmed with seed pearls, and long pointed sleeves. A lace insert was featured in the front of the full tulle skirt.

Her shoulder-length veil of silk illusion fell from a matching half hat. Her single strand of pearls was a gift of the bridegroom. Her bridal bouquet was created with a white orchid surrounded by white mums, ivy and white streamers.

Mrs. Joseph F. McInerney of Detroit, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Her ballerina-length gown of green crystallette was styled with a contrasting cummerbund which ended in a floating back panel.

Miss Leanne Tucker of Columbiana and Mrs. William Wright of Lisbon were the bridesmaids. Miss Tucker's gown was yellow with a gold cummerbund and Mrs. Wright was in pink with a rose cummerbund. They wore matching headbands and carried bouquets of bronze mums, ivy and green streamers.

Thomas Brown of Columbiana was best man. The ushers were Steve Zarnosky, uncle of the bridegroom and Jack Logan of Columbiana.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Zimmerman chose a mink-colored dress with moss green accessories and a corsage of bronze mums. The bridegroom's mother was attired in an orchid dress with black accessories and a corsage of gold mums.

One hundred and fifty guests from Columbiana, Leetonia, East Palestine, East Fairfield, Rogers Washingtonville, Salem, Youngstown, Lisbon and Pontiac, Mich., attended the reception.

Yellow mums and ivy decorated the bride's table which was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Charles Stetts and Mrs. Roy Crook served, and Mrs. Russell Coppock, aunt of the bride, poured. Miss Loretta Tarka, cousin of the bridegroom, was in charge of the guest book.

The couple are graduates of Fairfield Centralized High School. The bride is a graduate of Choffin School of Practical Nursing in Youngstown and is employed at St. Elizabeth's Hospital. The bridegroom is employed by the F. C. Russell Co. of Columbiana.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will reside at the home of the bride's parents. For traveling, Mrs. Zarnosky wore grey dress with white accessories and the orchid from her bouquet.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

The time has come to talk of other things than violence and wiretaps and who met whom in that upper room in Washington's Hotel Carlton and what a young labor leader charged his haberdashery to his hotel bill so his union could pay for the finery.

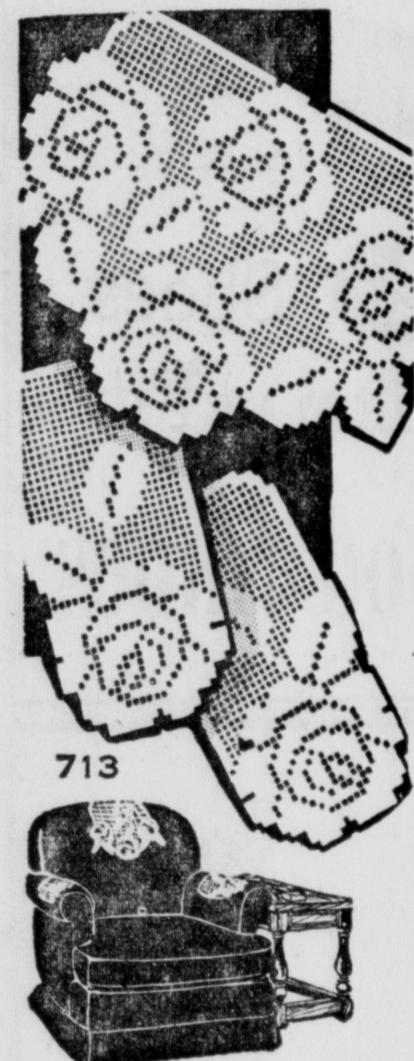

The time has come to talk of some rough times ahead. It's going to be harder to earn a buck. There are many labor leaders and their friends inside industry who believe we're heading for a recession, with four or five million jobless and tougher showdowns between big unions and big companies—as in the auto industry come next spring.

Some labor chiefs have word of hundreds of thousands of layoffs. Some unions have word right now of steady layoffs in batches of 400 to 900 men.

SOME UNIONS already have set up unemployment centers to help place their jobless members in any field—not just their own. That's the most serious sign of all.

Slowly we're heading back to where we were in 1949 and early 1950—just before the Korean war pulled us out of that slump.

'50'S FLAPPER — The current rage in raccoon coats, the Charleston and low-waisted dresses will carry into couture like this sporty fashion of yesterday. At least that's what Ruel of Coiffures Americana thinks. It's a short head-hugging cap-coif that's combed for the crown down to the eye-ward from a central point on line with sleek bangs.

The boom was on. CIO workers flocked through the gates of the big plants. They came early and stayed late; they were on overtime again.

Now the boom has been lowered. There is mighty little overtime. The Pentagon has forbidden it in all plants making aircraft and guided missiles for the Air Force.

There are Army and Navy cutbacks as well. By Jan. 1, 1958, the International Association of Machinists, the union most affected in those two fields alone. This union, whose president is Al Hayes, has begun setting up unemployment centers to help its laid-off members find other jobs.

One such union-run employment service is in Farmingdale, L. I.

side labor. Watch only his tactics on the coal front. He knows that prices and sales are off and profits are down. Otherwise Lewis would move, for this is his moment.

ON AUG. 1, he automatically gave the industry the 60-day notice needed to give his freedom of action. But he has no intention of striking. Nor even of getting tough. He's sitting by, watching quietly the passing industrial scene.

There'll be no coal crisis unless there is another boom. Lewis' silence is a sign of the times.

He's maneuvering and his secret meetings with Teamsters and Longshoremen's officials.

John Lewis has the feeling he may need allies in the next year or two, as Phil Murray did before the Korean conflict refilled our factories with orders.

The worries of Al Hayes, Walter Reuther, John Lewis and their business counterparts are reflected in other industries. No one knows quite what to expect—except that lush days are over.

Harvard Professor Cites Research Need

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Harvard University professor urged a more than 100 health commissioners today to devote more time to research in the field of public health and consider professional training methods.

Dr. William F. Mayes, associate professor of public health practice at Harvard, told a meeting of Ohio city and county health commissioners that research is one of the most pressing needs in the entire field of public health today.

Among all the health professions, he said, "the professional public health curriculum probably allocates the smallest portion of its time to the actual trial practice of its profession."

Today, he told the assembly, there are at least 15 different professions included in the direct practice of public health.

As a result, he continued, the wide ranges of courses that have to be covered make it difficult to present a unified program of graduate education in public health.

The health commissioners' conference, sponsored by the Ohio Department of Health, ends Friday.

Cat-And-Dog Story

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Everyone has his favorite cat-and-dog story, and mine is the tale of Felicia and Scrapper.

Scrapper was a friendly but tough airedale who bossed everything on four feet in the suburban neighborhood where he dwelt. He did, that is, until the lady of the house accepted as a gift a full-grown Siamese cat named Felicia.

"You're making a mistake," warned the master of the house. "You know Scrapper can't stand cats. He'll make mincemeat of Felicia in five minutes."

"We'll see," replied the lady of the house serenely.

Scrapper was across the yard when Felicia arrived. At sight of her he let out a high, excited yip.

So he began to stalk her. methodically, inexorably, hate in his canine soul. This cat had wounded his terrier pride. She must pay if it took a lifetime.

He stalked her by day and by night. He stalked her on a seven-day-a-week schedule, winter and summer and he never took a holiday. And he never caught Felicia off guard, never reached that "moment of truth" when he could move in and finish her off.

After three years of this war of nerves, Felicia, who up until then had enjoyed it as a game, apparently decided the time had come to end it. On a Sunday she walked to the edge of the yard, which bordered a busy highway. She stared at the traffic thoughtfully for a long time, and then turned and gazed thoughtfully at Scrapper, who was warily watching her.

Felicia, her mind made up, waited for a break in the traffic, then leisurely crossed the highway. She paused, looked back at Scrapper, then slowly and deliberately lay down in the grass and rolled over—as if asleep.

Tempted beyond caution, Scrapper raced madly out on the highway. There was a screeching of brakes—a yelp, then stillness. The master of the house, who had been a spectator to the scene, rushed out and picked up Scrapper. The dog bit his hand gently, looked around wildly for Felicia, then his taut body relaxed in eternal languor.

That cat deliberately lured him to his destruction," the master of the house said later.

"Perhaps," said the lady of the house, who, despite her sorrow over Scrapper, couldn't restrain a small feeling of womanly pride in Felicia.

The kids buried Scrapper in the back yard with full military honors and the beating of a timpani drum. They tossed bright yellow dandelions in his grave and two big steakbones, and over it erected a cross made from an orange crate and wrote on it this epitaph:

"To the Scrapper, a Brave Dog."

On warm afternoons Felicia used to like to lie on the grave, scratch in the dirt and sun herself lazily. One afternoon, two years later, the children found her there, calmly dead. So far as any could discover she was a victim of old age, lack of exercise, and gout.

They buried her next to Scrapper after another grand mournful funeral and inscribed this epitaph, composed by the lady of the house: "To Felicia, a Smart Cat."

Side by side they sleep, the Scrapper and Felicia, beyond enmity.

Businessmen Speed Up Progress of Justice

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two businessmen have revealed how they sped the sometimes painfully slow progress of justice. But their method isn't likely to win applause in court circles.

Steve Goss and Danny Powlitz related Wednesday that they went to court for assignment of a case awaiting trial for two years. After four hours they hadn't been called. Finally Goss, suing for $500 he claimed Powlitz owed from a business deal, walked over and said: "Let's settle this the easy way."

That was okay by Powlitz, who in fact suggested "double or nothing."

So they flipped a coin, and Goss called heads but it came up tails.

Goss left emptyhanded, with this philosophical observation: "He probably would have won in court, anyway."

Lewis W. Flick

Lewis Wilson Flick, 86, of 934 Franklin Ave., died of complications at his home Wednesday at 12:10 p.m. He had been ill since October, 1956.

the first time in its five-year history.

From it will emerge two champions.

One will be the man who accumulates the most points for the way his tractor and plowshares turn over the earth in two half-acre plots, one of stubble and the other of sod.

In locating the contest grounds near here, sponsors chose neither the best nor the worst of America's farmland.

The site itself is gently rolling, laced with occasional sections of flatland. But within view in all directions are the steep, tree-fuzzed hills common in this southern Ohio area.

Variety is a trademark of the soil. From a reasonably dark appearance in the low spots, the land can change in the flip of a furrow to a discouraging harsh yellow in the higher sections.

Opinions are Different

The more charitable contestants agree with the official appraisal of "brown loam." Others take a look and murmur: "Clay."

Opinion differs also on whether the moisture content is proper for good plowing.

United States contestant Lawrence Goettmoller of Celina, Ohio, displaying a typical American affinity for dry soil, observed happily that "it's just about the way I have it at home for fall plowing."

Northern Ireland contestant W. Lawrence McMillan of Dundonald reflected the views of most European interests.

"Too dry. It will be falling off the plows instead of turning over as it should."

The plots for today's stubble plowing division and Friday's sod-plowing division were drawn by lot.

The drawing marked the beginning of a tense period which the competitors say leads up to the actual event. To the man, the entrants go out into the field to look over their plot, kick the soil, sight along the contour of the land and crumble the earth between their fingers.

Dr. Steele Ends 57 Years' Dental Career In Lisbon

LISBON — Dr. J. F. Steele, 80, of N. Market St., has retired from the practice of dentistry after 57 years.

He was hospitalized a few months ago, but is now enjoying perfect health.

Dr. Steele was a one-time Lisbon high school football coach, champion bicycle rider, semi-pro football star, World War I veteran, board of education member, village councilman, United States Whist League president and volunteer fire chief here for 45 years and a member of fire department for 57 years.

In the meantime Council will contact Fairfield Township trustees to consider the possibilities of reaching an agreement for more adequate mutual protection in the area.

The possibility of having the township cooperate with the village in buying a new pumper was discussed by Council.

According to the present agreement, the township will make charges for each call answered taking into consideration the equipment and firemen used. Firemen are paid at an hourly rate of $2.50.

In other action, Police Chief William McGuckin appeared before council, stating that the present signal system is deteriorated. Council instructed McGuckin to ascertain what the costs of repairing the present system would be compared with the costs of a new installation which would give direct contact with the police cruiser when he radio is off.

Grading and sanitary facility problems were brought before Council by Guy Gregg and John Hoey concerning Gregg's housing development on North Elm and Sixth St. The two properties adjoin on Sixth St. The problem will be submitted to the Town Planning Commission, according to Council action.

Eight times as many children developed colds among those who had not received the vaccine than among those who did.

The JH virus was grown and the preventive was prepared by techniques similar to those used in developing Salk polio vaccine and older vaccines of other types.

Defense Budget Affected by Political Pressures

By ED CREAGH
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Guess who said this on Sept. 17, 1957:
"We must give our whole support to the national defense, cost what it may. We must announce our convictions that no price is too high to pay for the precious gift of national security."

Give up? Well, the man who said this in a speech to the American Legion at Atlantic City, N.J., this week is Louis A. Johnson, a former secretary of defense.

He is the same man who got bounced out of Harry S. Truman's Cabinet because his critics said he was pinching pennies too much.

There is no intention here to pick on Johnson because his views may have taken a 180-degree turn. The point is that times, conditions and opinions do change.

Political pressures do too, and this is something for Americans to be concerned about.

The past few years have seen backsliding and filling on defense policy to a degree that would have bordered on comic opera if the life or death of the nation hadn't been involved.

First Dwight D. Eisenhower became president and many feared that a general in the White House would want guns, guns and more guns even if the people didn't get any butter.

As it turned out, Eisenhower put great stress on economy. So much so that the Democrats in Congress kept offering more defense money than Eisenhower was willing to accept. This was the pattern throughout the President's first term.

Then came his second term and things changed as in a game of musical chairs. The Democrats cried out against big spending and wouldn't give the President all he asked. Complicating matters, it wasn't always possible for Congress to find out what he did want.

So the defense budget for the next few years turns out—as so often in the past—to be a political compromise.

Meantime, the Russians claim they have a successful intercontinental missile. Eisenhower pretends much pooh-poohs the claim. This country fires off some big rockets of its own—and cancels some other rocket development for lack of money.

Total confusion?

No, not total. There is a large measure of year-by-year understanding between the Pentagon and the committees of Congress which pass on military spending. Headline rows between Democrats and Republicans often obscure it, but it exists.

Is it great enough to insure an adequate defense in the future?

Or is there need for Eisenhower and the Democratic leaders of Congress to get together, lay the facts on the table between them and decide what political considerations must be made?

Time is getting short.

Already, at his Newport, R.I., vacation spot the President is going over the figures for the 1958-59 budget.

Already, looking to the 1959 congressional election, the Democrats are talking about a tax cut. Are Eisenhower and the Democrats speaking the same language on national defense? It seems doubtful. The best way they could find out would be to ask each other.

Man Faces Jail Term On Contributing Count

CINCINNATI (AP) — Virgil R. Smith, 36, faced 30 additional days in the workhouse today after his 14-year-old son—with a driver's license showing his age to be 16—was arrested on a charge of driving a car while under the influence of liquor.

Sentencing Smith Wednesday on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile, Juvenile Court Judge Benjamin Schwartz told him: "If you had not done this, this boy would not have been in this fix."

Testimony indicated the father signed his son's application for a driver's license, attesting his age as 16.

Smith's sentence will start, Judge Schwartz ruled, when he has served out 60 days and a fine of $130 on an assault and battery charge.

Mayo Clinic Doctor Cites Need Of 'Emotionally Ill'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Mayo Clinic physician has appealed for greater understanding between physicians and patients who are ill "not because of organic disease, but because of what life has done to the individual."

Dr. Edward H. Rynearson, chairman of Sections of Metabolic Diseases at the Mayo Clinic, declared Wednesday night that "it is time for us to give more time and understanding from the physician, that doctors must not neglect this 'great group' of people."

Dr. Rynearson's remarks were made at the Ohio Academy of General Practice's seventh annual banquet here. About 500 general practitioners are attending.

Patients with emotional disorders, he said, are "just as fine, just as sincere and are suffering just as much as are the patients with diseases of the kidneys or an ulcer of the stomach."

He emphasized that "both patients and their physicians are human beings" and that doctors or their wives "stand just the same chance of developing organic or functional disease as do the patients who consult them."

"Only a small number of all these people need psychiatric guidance," Dr. Rynearson told the group.

"Given a family which has happiness within the home, with a healthy relationship with other neighbors, with an active interest in the family church, pride in what each member of the family is doing, and a sympathetic understanding when any member falters or fails—then, in such a family, there is the environment for happiness and consequent good health," he said.

Today's session ends the two-day assembly.

Blasts Treatment Of Negroes in South

GRAND FORKS, N.D. (AP)—"It's getting almost so bad a colored man hasn't any country," says trumpet player Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong.

Armstrong, here for a concert, said he was dropping plans for a government-backed trip to Russia "because the way they are treating my people in the South, the government can go to hell."

Armstrong said President Eisenhower is "two-faced" and has "no guts," and was letting Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus "run the country." He said Faubus was "an uneducated plow boy."

In Washington, the State Department had no comment. But officials said Soviet propagandists undoubtedly would seize upon Armstrong's words because the Reds already have been pounding away at integration troubles as indicative of American intolerance toward Negroes.

One spokesman, noting Armstrong's remark he might visit Russia on his own, said the Russians probably would be quick to extend him an invitation for such a trip as a propaganda measure. A tour under government sponsorship had been discussed for some time and State Department officials earlier had expressed themselves as delighted over Armstrong's promise to "fracture them cats" behind the Iron Curtain.

From the vacation White House party, presidential press secretary at Newport, R.I., James C. Hagley declined comment.

John Kasper Ends Week's Stay In Jail

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—As attendance at Nashville's five integrated grammar schools climbed back to normal, John Kasper ended his one-week stay in jail and left Nashville Wednesday.

A White Citizens Council associate of Kasper, Lee Foster of Knoxville, Tenn., provided the $2,500 bail.

Kasper's Nashville attorney Montague Ross said the roving segregationist would stay out of town until Nov. 18, the date for his trial here on a charge of inciting to riot.

Kasper told newsmen he had no comment on his plans, but the lawyer said he probably would go to Washington, D.C. Nashville detectives followed him out of the city.

Quakers Will Face Heavy, Experienced Opponent Friday

Defensive Game Is Expected

6 Seniors, 5 Juniors On Ravenna Squad

By MARK MILLER

When Salem clashes with Ravenna Friday night, "Mother's Night" at Reilly Stadium, a "battle of the defenses" is expected to take place.

The Ravens didn't allow Bedford a tally in their opening game, shutting out their opponents 7-0 with a strong display of defensive power.

Coach Earle Bruce's eleven stopped a heavier Chaney team cold in their tracks in the Quakers' opening fray. The Salem defensive unit confined the Cowboy defense to a late fourth period touchdown, after Bruce had substituted a complete new unit. Salem beat Chaney 40-6 in their opener.

RAVENNA'S LINE may be the heaviest the Red and Black will have to face all season. From tackle to tackle the Ravens average 205 pounds per man.

Bruce's charges are outweighed by their opponents almost 10 pounds per man. Coach Tom Campana's forward wall goes 1,340 pounds beef-wise, or an average of 191 pounds per player.

Coach Bruce, without the services of last week's right halfback starter Darryl Adams, who was injured, plans to shift senior left halfback Lani Waiwaiolo to the right half spot. Lani tallied two of the Red and Black's touch-downs against Chaney.

SIX SENIORS AND five juniors make up the Raven ball club and most of the players starting Friday night saw plenty of action against the Quakers last season. Salem nipped Ravenna 20-13 for Bruce's initial win last season.

During intermission some 46 mothers of the Salem players will be introduced, following the bond ceremonies of the two high schools.

Salem's Booster club will present the mothers with flowers as they enter the gate prior to the game.

In last year's first annual "Mothers Night," the Quakers edged Wellsville 20-13. This year's affair was moved up so that the mothers could attend the game while the weather is still pleasant.

Tribe Tied For 5th Place

Cleveland Defeats Washington 8-3

CLEVELAND (P)—Mike Garcia pitched his sixth straight victory Wednesday night as the Cleveland Indians beat Washington 8-3 and moved into a fifth place tie with Baltimore.

It ran Garcia's season record to 12-8, his best since he won 19 and lost 8 in 1954. Last year he was 11-12 and the year before that he was 11-13.

The 33-year-old Big Bear, whose blazing fast ball made him one of the Tribe's big three from 1951 through 1954, apparently has found another way to win ball games.

It was reported in spring training that he was developing a knuckle ball, but he has stopped throwing it.

In his string of six victories since Aug. 25, he has pitched five complete games and allowed only 13 runs. He has walked a total of 15, and fanned 24. He has given up 44 hits in 52 1-3 innings.

He has beaten Washington, Baltimore, Kansas City, Detroit and Washington, in that order. He may get two more starts, and both could be against the Chicago White Sox.

The Indians, idle today, open a three game series against Chicago Friday, and wind up the season with three more against the White Sox in Chicago. A single game with Detroit and two with Kansas City fall in between.

Garcia was supported by 14 hits in Wednesday night's victory, including a bases-loaded double by Billy Harrell, brought up from San Diego this week. Harrell also collected two singles, made two good plays at shortstop, and had one error that allowed a run to score.

Vic Wertz contributed a double and a single and batted in his 99th run.

First line replacements for

Running No. 1 quarterback at the moment is a sophomore from Chicago, Bob Hickey, who threw five touchdown passes and scored five touchdow ns and himself in a scrimmage last Saturday.

Illini passing attack is expected to improve. Eliot ranks veteran end Rod Hanson and a fleet sophomore.

First line replacements for

Turner's decision victory over Akins in their telecast 10-rounders Wednesday night was his third straight. He had beaten middleweight Yama Bahama and Del Danagan previously.

Brooklyn Dodgers Official Declares Indications Are Club Will Move West

NEW YORK (AP)—Straws in the wind indicate the Dodgers are going to Los Angeles."

So said a Brooklyn club official after having been informed of New York City's Board of Estimate's announcement after a two-hour session late Wednesday that it had nothing to announce.

The board had been called for an emergency session, a day in advance of its regular meeting, to reconsider a new proposal presented by millionaire Nelson Rockefeller to Mayor Robert Wagner and Walter O'Malley, president of the Dodgers, designed to prevent the club from pulling up stakes and going west.

The club official, who asked not to be identified, was obviously nettled by the board's failure to come to a decision.

"While Los Angeles comes through with firm offers, this city continues to hold emergency meetings—and continues to do nothing," he said.

There is still chance the nine-man board might come to a decision at today's meeting, although that, too, was doubtful in view of Mayor Wagner's description of Wednesday's session as "an exploratory discussion."

The details of Rockefeller's latest plan were not disclosed, but the proposal presumably was a further development of his earlier offer of financial aid toward condemnation of land in the downtown Brooklyn area designed by O'Malley for a new Dodger stadium.

O'Malley, who repeatedly has expressed his willingness to invest his own money in a stadium if the land were made available to him at an "attractive" price, insists that the amount of money has no bearing on the main issue.

Midwest Grid Briefs

CHICAGO (AP)—Midwest football briefs:

Illinois—Kenny Sutter, letterman center, may be out for the season because of injuries. He will undergo a knee operation to correct an injury suffered a fortnight ago. Three other players, halfbacks L. Bonner and Jim DiGirolamo and end Dave Rewertz, have rejoined the team.

Northwestern—The Wildcats, who have been holding morning and afternoon practice sessions, will cut down to one a day starting today.

Michigan—Three sophomore backs who attended the same team are quarterback Stan Noskin, right halfback Brad Myers and left halfback Darrell Harper.

Michigan State—The reserves have been getting a going over this week. The coaches are slimming down the squad to the Big Ten limit of 38 players.

Minnesota—Injuries may upset Minnesota's plans to use two backfield platoons against Washington in the Gopher's first game Sept. 28.

Ohio State—Coach Woody Hayes says he is pleased with his Buckeyes' offensive punch in scrimmages, but that the defense "just can't hit hard enough."

Indiana—Indiana's two first string backs, Junior Dave Whitsell of Shelby, Mich., and sophomore Vic Jones of Clearfield, Pa., are drawing praise from the university's coaches. The team captain this year will be Don Howell, 195-pound guard from Gary, Ind.

Purdue—Coach Jack Mollenkopf said he doubts if Purdue's big tackle, Wayne Farmer, will be ready for the opening game with Notre Dame Sept. 28. The 235-pound junior is recovering from a midsummer back operation.

Iowa—The Iowans took the ball around the 20-yard line and required only one play Wednesday to score against the reserves.

Marquette—Mim Surane, one of Marquette's two lettermen at fullback, has become scholastically ineligible to play football this season.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By RUFUS L. LIDE

A new "pen stock" drainage system will be built this winter and spring at Guilford Lake at a cost of $33,000 to rid the lake of all rough fish.

Clarence Wetzel of Lisbon, state representative, says "the project will include a concrete tube, built through the breast of the lake at the extreme bottom. It will be 36 inches in diameter.

The valve will be in a concrete box in the breast of the lake. Recently a total of 2,400 largemouth bass were emptied into the lake.

THIS SEASON 37.7 tons of rough fish, (gizzard shad, carp, bullheads and suckers) have been removed from the lake.

Funds for the new "pen stock" are coming from the Ohio Wildlife Council. A state provision of $23,800 will be used for the betterment and improvement program at Guilford, which includes the beach toilets, picnic area and roads.

Oct. 4 the Ohio Parks Section will have its annual hearing at the Department of State Building in Columbus. That is the proper place and time to present your arguments or desires before the parks board regarding the changes or additions you think is for the good of the parks system.

For instance, I hear a lot of people making the statement that small outboard motors would be a great help to the fishermen at Guilford Lake as the lake is big enough to tire a fisherman out rowing a boat from one end to the other in order to get in some trolling.

DON'T WASTE YOUR words with the game protector because he has nothing to do with the existing regulations, nor with whatever rules and regulations are established. Present your arguments at the public hearing where you can be heard by the powers that be who make the final decisions on all matters that concern the state parks.

It might interest the sportsmen to know that under the new rules and regulations, any individual or group of individuals may rent, lease or own a piece of ground of not more than 50 acres and establish what is known as a "dog training area" where under certain provisions, the owner, lessee, or renter, can raise, buy or in any and shoot pheasants, both hens and cocks, the year around except on Sunday.

THE FEE WILL BE approximately $35. Applications may be made to establish such areas about the middle of October.

For further information, write the Ohio Division of Wildlife, 1500 Dublin Road, Columbus.

One stipulation is that no dog training area can be established within 1,500 yards of any now existing commercial pheasant shooting area. We have one in this county on the Mangus farm in Fairfield Township.

Sportsmen will be better off, in my opinion, if they will consider the new rule regarding the 50-50 pheasant rearing projects now in effect.

The stipulation is that the individual clubs must erect their own pens and rear the birds as furnished by the state.

I will be glad to explain the provisions further to any interested sportsmen group. I am not selling the idea, just explaining, and let the group decide for themselves.

LAST SATURDAY, while patrolling in an area near Williamsport, I heard a shot up on the hillside not over a hundred yards from me. That meant I had work

E. Palestine's Hull Paces Scoring In Tri-County League

Although only four of eight teams in the Tri-County League saw action last week against league opponents, the race for the scoring title has already taken shape.

George Hull of East Palestine has grabbed undisputed possession of first place in the league's scoring parade with 13 points. He scored two touchdowns and one extra point in his team's 26-6 win over Leetonia last week.

Two players are tied for second place with 7 points each on the basis of one TD and one extra point scored. They are Jack Hahn of Poland and Beau Bell of East Palestine.

Finishing up the list of six players who scored last week are Chum Held of Leetonia, Jack Rukendrof of East Palestine and Kosler of Poland. They each have scored six points.

Competition for the number one spot will be increased this week when six of the league teams will be in action.

Sebring travels to East Palestine, Leetonia to Louisville and Lisbon to Minerva.

Columbiana and Poland will be playing non-league opponents. The Clippers will be at home against McDonald while Poland will be at Boardman.

Pinch-Single Gives Reds 2-1 Victory

CINCINNATI (AP)—Tee darned bad, mates, that Cincinnati's Redlegs couldn't have put together a winning streak of four a month or so ago when it might have counted.

They did just that Wednesday night, winning 2-1 over the cellar-dwelling Pirates—thanks to Smoky Burgess' ninth-inning one-out pinch-single with the bases loaded. That was enough to break up the tie fashioned when Bob Skinner poled his 13th homer of the year.

Contrary to expectations, Hayes put his men through a ferocious scrimmage Wednesday, pitting the second stringers against the starting eleven.

Only on defense did he seem slightly disappointed.

"They just can't hit hard enough," the OSU mentor said.

"It's your hard football that gets you places."

Hayes was visibly pleased with pass offensive.

"We've got some passes now that I know will go," he said.

"We'll make them go."

Quarterback Frank Kremblas, whom Hayes indicated has won the starting assignment over Andy Okulovich, piloted the second team.

Hayes Disappointed With OSU Defense

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes, after watching his Buckeyes go through their latest football practice, appears satisfied the offense is shaping up, both on the ground and in the air.

Contrary to expectations, Hayes put his men through a ferocious scrimmage Wednesday, pitting the second stringers against the starting eleven.

Only on defense did he seem slightly disappointed.

"They just can't hit hard enough," the OSU mentor said.

Quarterback Frank Kremblas, whom Hayes indicated has won the starting assignment over Andy

Okulovich, piloted the second team.

The game, last of the campaign between the two clubs, gave the Redlegs a 15-7 edge for the season.

For Lawrence, it was his third triumph in five starts against the Bucs. Similarly, it enabled the Rhinelander to remain within four games of third-place Brook-

schedule.

But six of those nine are with pass offensive.

"We've got some passes now

Faubus Approaching Climax Of Long-Drawn Duel with U.S.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — Gov. Orval Faubus is approaching the climax of his long-drawn duel with the federal government over integration, and reports circulated today that he is ready to take the offensive through two important legal maneuvers.

Faubus is under summons to appear in federal court Friday morning.

At the hearing, government attorneys will ask U.S. Dist. Judge Ronald N. Davies to issue a temporary injunction against Faubus. If granted — and there is little doubt of that in Little Rock — he will command the governor to withdraw the National Guard from Central High School and open the doors for Negro students to enroll.

Goshen Grange Set For Booster Night

The annual Boosters Night of Goshen Grange will be held Friday evening at 8:30 at the grange hall.

Lt. Charles R. Goertz of the Air Defense Unit at Youngstown Municipal Airport will be the guest speaker and will discuss and show slides on "The Role of the 79th Fighter Squadron in Air Defense."

Skit presentations will be followed by a square dance, and an orchestra will play for the dancing. All members of the grange are urged to bring their friends and neighbors.

Her Education is High-Flying Affair—

Every day is a holiday for Frances Ferguson, notwithstanding the fact that she has to go to school. The 12-year-old miss rides to and from school each day in an old Ford tri-motor plane. She's the only school-age resident of tiny Rattlesnake Island in Lake Erie and the closest school is at South Bass Island, some five miles away. So the Ottawa County (Ohio) school board picks up the \$820 yearly tab it costs to provide her with an aerial school bus. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ferguson, manage an estate on the tiny island which is $\frac{1}{2}$ mile long and $\frac{1}{4}$ mile wide at its widest point.

He said they will ask Judge Davies to disqualify himself to hear the arguments.

And then whether he does this or not, the source said, they will demand to see the secret FBI report on the situation in Little Rock prior to Sept. 3 when the high school opened for the fall term.

Faubus conferred most of Wednesday with Rep. Hays of Ark., believed to be the chief link between the governor and the White House.

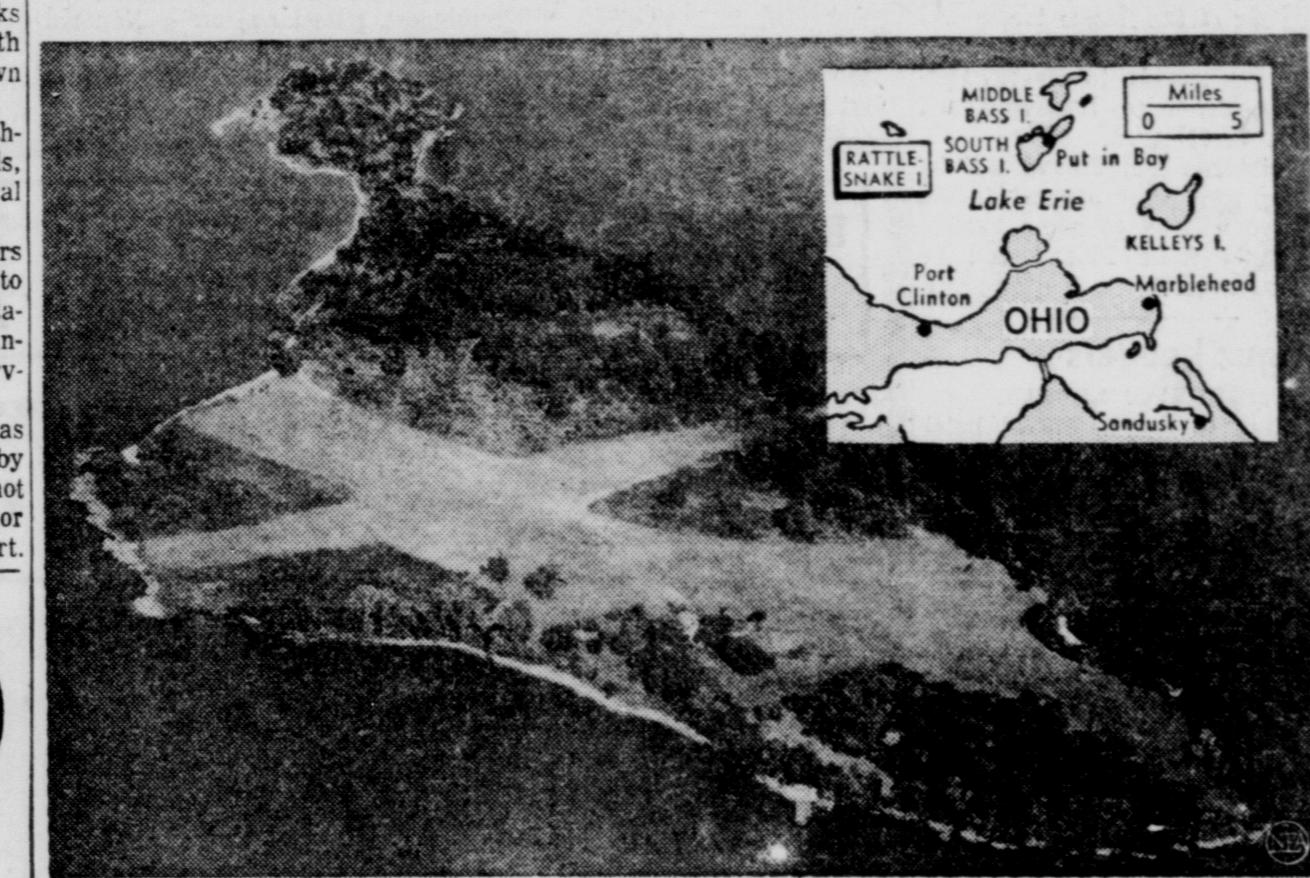

Hays was the intermediary in arranging last week's meeting between President Eisenhower and

Wear this Flower on Forget-me-not TAG DAY for DISABLED AMERICAN VETERANS

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, SEPT. 20 and 21

Salem Chapter 122

Forget-me-not ... PLEASE -

It is said that memory is the treasure house of the mind wherein the monuments thereof are kept and preserved.

If this be true, can there be a monument more imposing, more significant to preserve there than that of man's sacrifice for his fellow man?

Should not the mind of every American tenderly preserve the memory of the lives generously given on the field of battle that others should have life and laughter? Should it not keep always the remembrance of maimed bodies and tortured minds suffered that others might grow up strong and straight and free?

Surely, these are the monuments which should be guarded in a nation's treasure house of memory as well as in that of each American.

For today in our country there are thousands who want for the love and the comfort of those who died in war. There are hundreds of thousands, even millions, of others whose scarred bodies and minds will not permit them to forget pain and horror, but, rather, sharpen the memory of the joys of health and normal life.

If we remember — as we should — we will strive always and unceasingly to protect and care for these bereaved and suffering ones. We will give of our own resources to make sure that they do not suffer more or needlessly. We will never fail to heed that poignant whisper: "Forget me not!"

"Forget me not," asks the Disabled American Veterans — the DAV — on its tag day.

No One Injured in Two Traffic Mishaps

No one was hurt Wednesday in two minor auto mishaps that took place on nearby roads.

Cars driven by Richard Piper, 20, of Damascus and George Williams, 61, of Alliance, sideswiped each other on the Lake Placid Road, one mile south of Westerville, at 7 a.m. Wednesday.

The case is still being investigated, state patrolmen reported.

Julius Jordan, 53, was not hurt when his southbound car struck a sign which had fallen off a northbound truck on Rt. 7, six miles south of Rogers, at 12:20 p.m. Patrolmen said Joseph Geisse, 39, of East Liverpool, was driving a state highway department truck when a sign fell off and into the path of Jordan's car.

When temperatures are moderate, the western mourning dove can go four or five days without water or succulent food and suffer no ill effects.

Man Comes to Testify, Ends Up In Jail Instead

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — William M. Murray, 40, came to Municipal Court yesterday to testify the state in a murder case, but ended up in jail instead.

Murray waited more than an hour in adjoining room before he was called to testify. It was stuffy and warm in that room but it was worse when he was called to the stand. He could not see the judge or prosecutor because the courtroom seemed to dance.

After several questions by the assistant city prosecutor, Martin Joyce, Judge Frank R. Franko ordered a bailiff to arrest Murray on an intoxication charge and recessed the hearing.

Measles In Childhood

It seems to me that measles in childhood is more often taken too lightly than any of the other contagious diseases.

Although, it is true that most youngsters have measles and recover without difficulty, it can produce serious complications. Although it is nice to have a lifelong immunity because one has had it early, parents should take care if their children acquire it.

Measles is caused by a virus. Once in a while this virus attacks the nervous system. It also weakens the body so that broncho-pneumonia or bronchitis may set in. This, too, often results in serious difficulties with the lungs. The ears also may be affected.

Bed rest until the acute stage of the disease is over should be enforced. Many of the serious complications come from letting the victim out of bed too early. Plenty of fluids and easily digested foods should be given.

The eyes are sensitive to light, so that reading and eye strain should be avoided. Often it is well to have the shades in the sick room partially drawn. Tepid baths are helpful in preventing itching and in soothing the skin. Constipation is common and should be prevented.

The first symptoms of measles develop about two weeks after exposure.

The diagnosis of measles is not easy at first. During the time it is usually fully developed in two or three days. Fading of the rash starts in another two or three days.

Boiled Beef

Ingredients: 2 to 4 pounds fresh beef brisket, water, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped celery, 1 few celery tops, 1 to 3 teaspoons salt, $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon pepper, 1 bay leaf, 3 to 6 medium-sized carrots (pared), 1 small head cabbage (cut into serving-size wedge-shaped pieces). Method: Cover beef brisket, in a kettle, with water. Add chopped celery, celery tops, salt, pepper, bay leaf and cloves. Cover and bring rapidly to simmering; lower heat and simmer until tender when a fork is inserted in center — 2½ to 3 hours. About 30 minutes before beef is done, add whole potatoes and carrots; about 15 minutes later add cabbage wedges. Strain broth; slice meat. Serve broth in bowls or cups or use as stock for another dish.

Dealer's Choice of Fudge, Sandwiches

Like maple flavor? Want the fun of offering homemade candy when bring to a boil, stirring constantly, your friends come to visit? Then boil, without stirring, until you might like to try this recipe for maple fudge. Directions are so specific that you should have no trouble in turning out a batch with a professional air.

Maple Walnut Fudge

Ingredients: 1 cup sugar, 1 cup maple-blended syrup, 1/2 cup light cream, 1/4 cup coarsely broken walnut meats.

Method: Put sugar, maple-blended syrup, a dash of salt and the cream in a heavy medium-sized saucepan. Place over low heat and of offering homemade candy when bring to a boil, stirring constantly, your friends come to visit? Then boil, without stirring, until a small amount (about a teaspoonful of the mixture forms a soft ball) is lost when it is dropped into a cup of very cold water (or to a temperature of 236 degrees on a candy thermometer). Remove from heat.

Cool to lukewarm (110 degrees on a candy thermometer) without stirring. Then beat mixture until it loses its gloss — this usually takes from 12 to 15 minutes. Just as the candy is losing its gloss, stir in the walnuts. Turn at once into a lightly buttered pan — 8 by 4 by 3 inches is a good size. When candy is cold cut into squares and remove with spatula. Makes 18 large pieces.

Man-Size Snacks

Men usually enjoy hero-type sandwiches for a snack. We make these with crusty club rolls from a bakery. For 9 or 10 rolls, we use a half-pound of thinly sliced Italian-type salami, 1/4 pound of thinly-sliced boiled ham, 9 or 10 very thin slices of cooked smoked tongue, 1/2 pound of thinly-sliced natural Swiss cheese, dill pickles, small pickled "cocktail" onions, prepared mustard, romaine or lettuce.

We split the rolls lengthwise and butter the cut surfaces lightly. Then we layer one side with the meats and cheese — folding these over as necessary — and add very thin lengthwise slices of dill pickle. We spread the other side of the roll with the prepared mustard and tuck three or four small pickled onions down into it at intervals. We put the rolls together with a small leaf of lettuce and romaine.

Wrapping each sandwich individually in foil or waxed paper, if they are to be stored before serving, is a good idea. These are hefty offerings and they are too big for sandwich bags, but you can be sure they won't be too big for man-size appetites!

MINTED CARROTS

Ingredients: 1 bunch carrots, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 3/4 teaspoon dried crumbled peppermint leaves, 2 tablespoons water, 1 cup stemmed seedless grapes, 1/2 teaspoon sugar.

Method: Pare carrots; cut into thin rounds. Melt butter in skillet (about 10 inches) over low heat; add carrots and cook gently about 10 minutes; stir occasionally. Add peppermint candy and walnuts until nuts are coated. Drop by teaspoonsful onto waxed paper to harden. Makes about 12 dozen clusters.

Cheese Souffle

Ingredients: 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, cayenne pepper, 1/4 cup milk, 1/4 pound mild cheddar cheese (finely grated), 1/4 pound sharp cheddar cheese (finely grated), 4 large eggs (separated).

Method: Melt butter over low heat in a 2-quart saucepan. Stir in flour, salt and dash of cayenne. Add milk all at once; cook and stir constantly until thickened and bubbly. Stir in cheese (keeping heat very low or using an asbestos pad) until melted; remove from heat. Beat egg yolks slightly; beat in some of the cheese sauce; return to saucepan, beating vigorously as you do so. With clean rotary beater (hand or electric), beat egg whites until they hold stiff straight peaks when beater is slowly withdrawn. Fold in cheese mixture until there are no white blobs. Turn into a 1 1/2-quart ungreased baking dish; bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven until high, golden brown and firm on top. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Baked Tomato Egg

Ingredients: 4 medium-large tomatoes (1 to 1½ pounds), 1 teaspoon anchovy paste, 4 eggs, ½ cup finely grated Parmesan cheese.

Method: Cut a thin slice from the top of each washed and dried tomato; cut out insides in large plug shapes with a small sharp knife; with fingers or teaspoon remove seeds, juice and inside wall sections. Make sure outside wall of pulp and skin of tomatoes is intact. Put ¼ teaspoon anchovy paste in bottom of each tomato and spread a bit. Drop a whole egg into each tomato shell; sprinkle egg with grated cheese. Place on foil in shallow baking dish and bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven for 25 minutes when whites and yolks should be well set; if you would like them firmer, raise oven to 375 degrees and bake another 5 minutes. Serve at once.

Note: If there are young children in your family, anchovy paste may be omitted from their portions. No salt is added because anchovy paste and Parmesan cheese usually add enough.

Split Pea Soup

1 cup (7 oz.) split peas, 4 cups boiling water, 2 tablespoons finely diced carrot, 1 tablespoon finely diced onion, ½ teaspoons salt, ½ teaspoon black pepper.

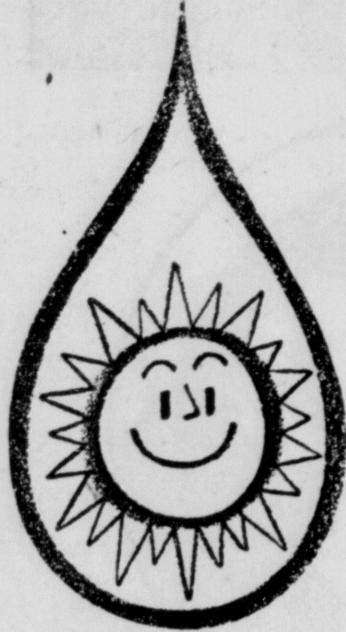

Combine all ingredients in heavy cooking pot; cover. Bring to boil; let boil gently for ½ hour, stirring occasionally. Puree. Measure. If necessary, add enough hot water to make 1 quart.

Low-Fat Muffins Add Variety

Men past 40 who lead a sedentary, non-physical, business life are warned not to put on weight if they want to avoid middle age degenerative diseases, particularly coronary and hypertensive diseases. One effective approach to preventing obesity is to improve the breakfast pattern.

That is the warning of Dr. Jeremiah Stamer, assistant director of the Cardiovascular Department of the Medical Research Institute of Michael Reese Hospital, Chicago. Dr. Stamer warns against the "coffee and run" breakfast or the breakfast too heavy in fats.

A proper first meal should provide at least one quarter of the man's daily nutritional requirements, he points out, and suggests that it include fruit, cereal and bread (whole grain, enriched or restored), honey, marmalade or jam for spread, and nonfat milk.

Such low-fat basic breakfast maintains efficiency in the late morning hours and will help him Low-Fat Honey Bran Muffins.
